WEDNESDAY, MARCH 2, - 1898.

It is estimated that should the necessity of war require the entire fighting strength of the nation, not less than 10,000,000 men could be put into the field within a month's time.

When the Register, the Courier-Journal, Times and Post agree that the General Election Bill is unworkable that settles it. They are all such good Democrats.

PROPERTY seems to have struck some portions of the country, or at least some individuals, when Carnegie's plan to pay a cool $100,000 for a picture. He is said to have paid that sum for the French picture "Christ Breaking Bread." A picture of Christ standing broad from his knees, with his arms outstretched, and his hands so full as to be unable to hold anything, might not bring so high a figure, but it could be made decidedly more realistic than one painted purely from imagination.

—Standard Journal.

In the course of a personal letter to Judge Pryor, Mr. Brewster, in mentioning that he will not be a candidate for Congress, throws out a suggestion of more than ordinary interest to the Democrats of Kentucky, when he says: "Could I but speak for my native State, I would do for the Democratic cause by placing you in the executive chair as but a modest expression of the obligation I owe to the people and patriotic love of a faithful and unselfish public servant." Party loyalty may yet get the better of all candidacies to disappear with the "clams," leaving the party free to name its strongest candidate—Louisville Post.

NATIONS are controlled and swayed in very much the same manner as are individuals when placed under similar conditions. When an individual becomes indebted to a person to the extent of his conduct is directed by his creditor. Freedom of action is restricted in proportion to the extent of indebtedness as compared with fixed and undeniable assets. Just in proportion to a nation's indebtedness, to that extent it becomes enslaved to its creditors.

The creditor realizes the power and authority existing by virtue of the debt, and in many cases prefers the power to enjoyment of the debt. But for this creditor power the people of the United States would have long since recognized the belligerent rights of the patriotic creditor. The creditor's power would never have been blown up by one of our magnificent battleships, and Cuba, long ere this, would have been free and independent. To all who want to know the truth it is plain that we are in the grasp of the creditor power, and that creditor power is to continue to hold. This republic is fast becoming enslaved by debt, and the creditors do not desire the debt, but in either gold or silver, simply from the fact that payment of the debt would destroy their power as well as their interest. We want the public with that party that advocates principles and policies that will lead to payment of the public debt, and to the payment of the debt according to the terms of its obligations. We will continue to be the freest and grandest nation on earth; if not the freest now begun will continue to be the freest, and the freest will be the freest. It is not time for the person with only modest means, with little more than the duty as a citizen. An honest consideration of the reflection is sure to lead to the conclusion that a gold standard leads to slavery and degradation.
